Sunday and Monday

Daughter of a lazy, good-for-nothing, novel-reading, "can-rushing" father, she toiled, half slave, behind the counter of a five and ten cent store for five dollars a week. Her shoes were so full of holes that she picked up splinters in the bottom of her feet from the rough boards of the floor where she stood behind the counter—so rotten with age and wearing that they were ready to fall from the laces that bound them around her ankles. Every Saturday she took her unopened pay envelope home to her mother—victim of a husband's laziness and compelled to take in washing that he might be able to drink beer, smoke his pipe and read novels. For three weeks her mother had promised the shop girl that she should have money to buy shoes—three times the excuse of house rent, the butcher's bill and groceries to be paid for denied the fulfillment of the promise. Finally, unable longer to quiet the surge of resentment that overwhelmed her repugnance, the shop girl procured her own shoes—and in the understanding tears of her mother the child's sins were washed away. Behold in "Shoes," the Bluebird photoplay to be exhibited at the Joy Theater on Sunday and Monday, the greatest sociological problem picture ever screened.

OBITUARY

C. L. Mangum, who died at an early hour on November 10, at the family home, was 63 years old. He was born in Atlanta, Georgia. He was in the dry goods business in Fort Worth, Texas, in Baltimore and New York before coming west. He removed with his family to Grants Pass in 1895, having previously spent eight years in Tacoma. He engaged in the mining and real estate business here. His death was sudden. He was taken with pneumonia only a few days ago. It was thought that the disease had been checked, but Mr. Mangum caught cold and suffered a relapse. He died peacefully. He was well known and highly respected; a southern gentleman of the old school. He was a life long member of the Methodist Episcopal church. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Mangum, and his daughter, Miss LaCosta Mangum, and a host of friends to mourn his loss. The funeral was conducted from the residence by Rev. Melville T. Wire.

Babies Cared For—

The Parent-Teacher association of this city won many praises for itself again Saturday when it opened a babies rest room in the Auxiliary rooms at the Commercial club on Sugar day. Here babies were cared for while the mothers visited the sugar factory or went about the city. At one time 10 youngsters were being cared for at one time.

Wants Beet Growers to Hurry—

Agriculturist Austin of the sugar company states that because the factory is using up beets faster than they have been hauled in during the past week, hauling having been stopped because of wet weather, it may be necessary to shut the factory down for a few days. He wishes it impressed upon the farmers who still have beets to haul that they should make an extra effort to get their beets in at once. There are still about 1,000 tons in the fields.

Hall-Callahan Wedding—

Barney Hall and Miss Julia Callahan, both of this city, surprised the most of their friends when Saturday morning, at 8 o'clock, they appeared at the rectory and were married by Rev. C. W. Baker, of St. Luke's Episcopal church. Only a few friends of the contracting couple were present. Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hall drove to Merlin, where they boarded the Southern Pacific train for Portland, where a honeymoon will be spent, after which they will return to this city to make their home.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Bess G. Conklin

Bess Gunnison Conklin, wife of Arthur Conklin, died at the family residence in this city Friday night, November 10. The funeral services will be held today, at the home at 112 C street, at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. S. A. Douglas, pastor of the Baptist church.

Bess Gunnison was born in Dewitt township, Clinton county, Michigan, on February 15, 1872, being 44 years, eight months and 25 days of age when called by death. After graduating from Rook's academy, in Lansing, Mich., at the age of 16 years, she began teaching in the public schools, later in the ward schools of Lansing, and for several years was principal of the largest ward school in that city. In 1905 she removed to Los Angeles, Cal., where she was an active partner in the china painting studio of the Railback-Claremore company. On June 28, 1911, she was married to Arthur Conklin, of Grants Pass, at Los Angeles, and came to this city to make her home, residing here till the time of her death. Mrs. Conklin is survived by her husband, by her aged father, mother and sister, E. Gertrude Gunnison, of Los Angeles, and by a sister, Mrs. J. T. Lucas, of London, England. There are also four step-children, to whom Mrs. Conklin was a loving mother, they being Evelyn, Gladys, Harold and Marian.

Mrs. Conklin had been desperately ill for the past 10 weeks, her death having been caused by cancer of the liver.

The deceased was a woman of the greatest intelligence and of untiring energy, and was foremost in the promotion of all enterprises for the benefit of society. As a president of the Ladies' Auxiliary she had achieved a reputation for ability and for interest in the public welfare, and was always giving of her time and her resources for the enterprises of her home city and state. She was the founder of the Arts and Crafts society, of which she had been elected a life member, and was a leader in the women's suffrage movement of southern Oregon. She was also active in the Parent-Teacher association and in the organization of the public library. She will be greatly missed from the circles in which she was always active, and her many friends mourn her untimely death.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

For an examination, the bookkeeping class was given a trial balance containing about fifteen items, from which financial and profit and loss statements were to be made, showing net gain and present worth. The following are the names of those who made 90 and above: Emmet Hoffman, 95; Jla de Grasse, 93; Mary Hackney, 90; Henry Shook, 90. This is pretty good work, as the students have covered in eight weeks what is usually considered twelve weeks' work.

The last week of school has been rather quiet, despite the fact that it was examination week.

THINK TEUTONS BURNED CITY OF CERNAVODA

Rome, Nov. 11.—General Mackensen's retreat in the Dobrudja district of Roumania from positions about Cernavoda, continues, wireless reports from Bucharest said today. A great fire is raging in the direction of Cernavoda, leading to the belief that the Teutons fired the city before evacuating it. The Bulgarian population of Dobrudja is reported fleeing to the Bulgarian border.

BRITISH CAPTURE EASTERN PART OF REGINA TRENCH

London, Nov. 11.—British troops, in the face of a terrific barrage fire, last night stormed and captured the eastern portion of the Regina trench, a portion of which they had taken October 21, General Haig reported to the war office today. The report said the British have secured their new position.

George Beban

Directed by Thos. H. Ince, director of "Civilization" and "Peggy" Acclaimed by press and public as one of the greatest pictures of the day

"If there was a dry eye in the house, it must have been a glass one."—N. Y. Herald.

"The film is perfection itself, and it is charming and pathetic from beginning to end."—N. Y. Review.

"It is truly a great production, about the best Thos. H. Ince has given us."—Motion Picture News.

"So gripping is the story and so perfect the acting that the nine reels seem short and the suspense is sustained to the end."—N. Y. Telegraph.

"A masterpiece."—Motion Picture World.

"By all means see George Beban in 'An Alien,' at the Astor."—"Wid." in N. Y. Evening Mail.

"With all candor, I can say that 'An Alien,' the adaptation of 'The Sign of the Rose,' written and acted by Geo. Beban and filmed by myself, is, in my opinion, one of the finest human interest stories extant."—Thos. H. Ince, Director.
